

It is often more convenient for us to communicate by email rather than by post or fax. Sometimes this involves giving your consent to a particular activity or course of action; an obvious and routine example is for your son to come home for the weekend or visit another pupil's home.

In order that we may be sure the email is genuine and that we are respecting your wishes, we ask you to confirm below the email address(es) through which you will communicate with us, and append your signature. We will then accept emails from these accounts for exeats etc., but only on the email address that you have provided.
